Stocker Steer Calves And Yearlings In Demand At San Saba

San Saba, Texas — Feb. 19 — Receipts 1,407. Buyer attendance was good creating a good demand on most all stocker steer calves and yearlings at Jordan Cattle Auction. The feeder steer yearlings sold mostly steady. The choice light heifer calves and the heavy heifer calves continue to be in strong demand. There was some resistance to the heavier heifers that were carrying more flesh, going steady to $1.00 lower. Slaughter cows and bulls were rather scarce. No real high yielding cows or bulls were sold. The packer market on those offered was steady to strong. Stocker cows were very scarce and in strong demand.

Choice steer calves, light $85-94, medium $76-86, heavy $70-78, light yearling steers $68-72, heavy steers $65-68, medium good quality steer and bull calf yearlings $60-70. Choice heifer calves, light $70-94, medium $65-70, heavy $61-65, choice heifer yearlings $59-64, medium to good quality heifer calves and yearlings $53-58, shorties and some plainer calves and yearlings $47-55, heiferettes $42-50-$54.00.

High yielding cows $40-45, medium yielding cows $36-40, low yielding cows $32-38.

High yielding bulls $48-52.50, low yielding bulls $43-48, good and choice cow and calf pairs $650-610, plainer and older pairs $575-500, bred cows $875-550.

Waco, Texas

Waco, Feb. 20 — Cattle and calves 800. Feeder steers and bulls firm, instances 1.00 higher. Feeder calves 1.00-2.00 higher. Replacement cows steady. Cow calf pairs steady. International Beef Meeting Slams Protectionism, Singles Out Japan

During the meeting, the Canadian Cattlemen's Association invited the American cattle industry to be represented on a committee overseeing a Canadian beef promotion program. The representatives agreed to operate to reinstate beef to a dominant position on the world food market, and also counter "misinformation" about beef, the communique said.

Signatories to the communique were J. Pearl, president of the Cattle Raisers of Australia, Jack Dahl, president of the U.S. National Cattlemen's Association, Stan Wilson, president of the Canadian Cattlemen's Association, and Norman McRae, Deputy chairman of the New Zealand Meat Producers' Board.

Meat Exports Surpass $1 Billion For First Time

Last year, U.S. beef, pork and various meat exports totaled more than $1 billion for the first time.

Remember when alligators were an endangered species? Now they are numerous that in Ville Platte, Louisiana, there is a commercial farm raising and selling alligator meat to super markets. Soon they'll be in convenience stores. Management is looking for a suitable building site near a busy intersection in a swamp.

Gator meat is really good they say and comes in grades of Prime, Choice, and Hostile.

You may wonder how they raise gators in confinement. They put them in water-filled vats and feed them raw meat. The alligator farmers lead them carefully and avoid acting raw.

Of course, a lot of gators are still hunted wild. Instead of Crocodile Dundee killing crocs with a knife, the most legendary Cajun is Alligator Alfonzo who prefers a broken beer bottle.

The processing plant butchers, skin and handles the by-products. The guys who work there are real alligator wrestlers. They say it's a good job but they have this constant, strange compulsion to go out and buy a hillbill.

All together, there are 14 alligator farms in Louisiana. These used to be 15 but the gators ate one.

They even have recipes for the meat. They usually start out with "Take a medium size pan and a 361 Megnum."

No, joke, there are dishes called Boar Sprout and Gator Baks (one got caught in the garden). Gator Manaballs and Spaghettii run over by a gusdod and Le Cocodrie, which is French for H-E-L-P!

A Cajun cook told me that alligator meat is weird because if you cook it like red meat, it tastes like red meat. If you cook it like fish, it tastes like fish. I asked, "What if you cook it like water-buffalo?" He replied, "Don't do dat or it won't taste nothing 'like gator."

At cocktail parties, the latest rage is Alligator hors d'oeuvres. They put some small chunks in a used alligator shell casing and call it gator on the half shell.

There is a difference between the pan-fried and the wild gator meat. The Cajuns say the difference is you try to eat the same ones. In the wild, it's the reverse.

Well, lama or wild, gators are making a comeback. A Cajun hunter told me that he recently came face to face with a giant alligator. "My whole life flashed before my eyes."

"Wow!" I said. "Did you kill him?" "Naw," he said, "I had a good time. It was an X-rated dash."

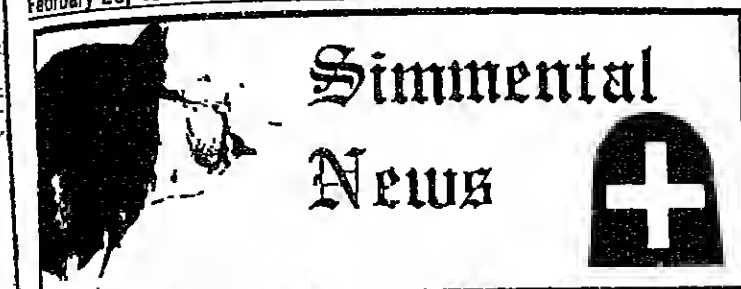

To complete my research, I asked this fearless hunter if he ever took a step back when facing a gator. "To tell you the truth," he said, "dat's de most dangerous ting you could done. I'd rather step in a possum trap or fall out da boat."

V Annual American Simmental Roundup Spectacular Sale

San Antonio — Plans have been completed for the V Annual American Simmental Roundup Spectacular Sale to be held in San Antonio, Texas on Saturday, March 7. This sale features both commercial and registered Simmental cattle selling as individuals or in groups of three, five or ten head. This Simmental sale has become one of the most popular Simmental sales in America.

In the past four years ranchers in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana have used this sale to purchase practical and high quality Simmental cattle for spring restocking. Many ranchers have been repeat buyers for four years. Warren Garrett, Texas Simmental Association, will be available before, during and after the sale to answer any questions you may have concerning this sale or Simmental cattle in general. Reyes and Mihalek are sale managers.

Triple Header Sale Scheduled For April 26

Three breeds, Simbrah, Brahman and Simmental, make up the sale offering of Triple-Header '87, Sunday, April 26, 12:00 noon at the Livestock Performance Center, Castroville, Texas. Hisinger Ranches' San Antonio Division and Wentz Farming Company, Olmito, Texas, are sponsoring the 300 head event.

Most of the major Simbrah, Brahman and Simmental bloodlines are included, and a hundred head of each breed will sell. Bred cows make up a large percentage of the all-female offering. We plan to offer a good set of cattle at a good time of the year," said co-sponsor Tom Rinsinger.

Catalogs are available upon request and Joe Mitcham has been retained as auctioneer. The sale will be approved by the Texas Simmental-Simbrah Association. For additional information contact Tom Rinsinger, Rt. 9, Box 242, San Antonio, Texas 78227 (512) 877-8449; Bud or Bill Wentz, Box 27, Olmito, Texas 78755 (512) 358-4444 or the TSSA, 12530 West Avenue Suite 103, San Antonio, Texas 78210 (512) 342-284 or sales consultant, Brent Perry, P.O. Simmental Bulls

Jim Blankenship thinks they may be the best thing that ever happened for South Texas crossbred cows.

"In this country a bull has got to be able to cover a lot of country, breed cows instead of fighting with the other bulls and sire good-doing, heavy-weaning, high-yielding calves. Simmental bulls are the answer for our Brahman cross cows."

ANGUS News

Texas Angus Futurity Ave. $1808

An overflowing crowd gathered to attend the Texas Angus Association Futurity held in conjunction with the Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock Show in Fort Worth on January 31, 1987. Sixteen females graced $31,325 to average $1,957 and 13 bulls graced $21,125 to average $1,625. Twenty-nine total lots graced $1,625 to average $1,808.

Prior to the sale the cattle entered in the futurity were judged by Larry Cotton of Howell, Michigan. Grand champion female honors went to New Pogy 083 RF, an October 1985 daughter of Cobble Pond New Yorker. She was consigned by Riverside Farms of Hamilton, Texas, selling open for a bid of $3,800 going to Rising Sun Ranch of Marquette.

Four D Angus Ranch of New Ulm gave a nod of $3,800 to purchase a consignment from Stroud Creek Ranch of Tolar. B & L Hearty 6224 is a September 1985 open daughter of Cobble Pond New Yorker.

Rising Sun Ranch struck again giving $3,350 to own Hula Sky Lady Camilla, a February 1985 daughter of Pine Drive Big Sky selling as a calf to JK Pine Tar. This lot was consigned by JK Ranch of Lockney.

Reserve grand champion female in the futurity was consigned by JK Ranch. Six Bar D Georgine 498, a March 1988 daughter of JK Pine Tar, sold for $3,100 going to Mike McCully of Mount Pleasant.

In the bull division Riverside Farms received the grand championship honors on Abba RF, an October 1985 son of Cobble Pond New Yorker. This lot sold to Stout Angus of Abilene for $3,800.

Rolling Oaks Ranch of Burkett and TW Angus of Cleburne teamed up to consign ROR Hombre, an April 1985 son of Gunston Hombre. He sold to TPC Ranch of Jackson, Mississippi for $3,800. Stout Angus consigned FA Yankee 604, a March 1988 son of Cobble Pond New Yorker. Allen Ranch of Cleburne, Texas gave $2,000 to acquire this young herd sire.

The reserve champion Angus bull in the futurity was owned by Richardson Cattle Company and Mongrom.

Quest for the best

A registered Angus steer named "Broadway Black Jack" was named the overall grand champion steer at the 1987 Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock Show held in Fort Worth, Texas. Over 900 head of steers competed for this prestigious honor. Exhibitor Amy McMillan, 14, of Lamesa, Texas, earlier led her 1,260 pound entry to the champion Angus steer spot. This June 1985, Fairfield HJ Guy son received the honors from judge Calvo Drake, Manhattan, Kansas. Amy is the daughter of Ron and Linda McMillan. "Broadway Black Jack" sold for $30,000 to M. Dank and Miller Brewing Co. both of Fort Worth, Texas. Photo by American Angus Association.

Futures Talk

Week Ended Feb. 20

As traders look on the floor of the Exchange, price data is transmitted instantaneously to the world. In your newspaper in the business section, you will find yesterday's Futures price activity.

In most newspapers, price data is grouped under Futures headings such as "Livestock and Meat," "Grains and Oilseeds," "Financial," etc. Next to the name of each Futures contract is the abbreviation of the Exchange where that contract is traded. For example, next to Corn is CME which represents the Chicago Board of Trade.

Down the left hand column is the current month's being traded. Remember, Futures are traded in months because they are consumed, and thus, the contracts expire. To the right of the month is the day's opening price, highest price during the trading session, lowest price, and closing price. The closing price is called the "settlement" price and may be the average of a closing range. Generally, the last 30 seconds of trading is called "the closing," and frequently, the settlement price is the average of the highest and lowest price traded during the closing.

To the right of the settlement price is the average of the highest and lowest price traded during the closing. To the right of the settlement price is the average of the highest and lowest price traded during the closing. To the right of the settlement price is the average of the highest and lowest price traded during the closing.

Below the price data, is the daily volume, or number of trades, and the total open interest of all months. If you are in phase with the flow of the price, the markets will pay you a handsome dividend.

The flow is a short-term directional indicator while the trend is a long-term indicator. When a market is in an uptrend, the flow and the trend are up. As the market begins to top out, the flow will turn from up to neutral and then to down. As the market moves lower, it will eventually change the direction of the trend from up to down.

A neutral market has a "floating" price with no direction. A neutral market is not a "sideways" pattern. The flow and trend of March feeders remains up. A close below $80.10 will turn the flow down. The next resistance should be around $70.60.

The flow and trend of May feeders is up. A close below $83.80 will turn the flow down. The next resistance is around $88.85.

The trend and flow of June live cattle (fats) remains up. A close below $68.50 will turn the flow down. There is resistance between $62.45 and $62.75.

The trend of June hogs remains up, and the flow remains down. The major support appears to be around $43.00 with resistance around $47.80.

The trend and flow of July corn remains down. Support should be found around $1.50. A close above $1.75 would be required to change the flow to neutral.

May wheat has really been a buzz around during the past three weeks. The trend of the market remains up with the close at $2.81 on Feb. 20, the flow has moved from neutral to the up mode. I don't see a resistance until we get to the closing high of $3.00.

The trend of March soybeans remains sideways. The boundaries of sideways pattern are $5.11 and $4.82. There is resistance around $5.00. A close below $4.82 will change the trend and the flow to down. There is some support around $4.60 but the air starts to get thin below that.

The trend and flow of July soybeans is down. There is support at $4.80 a close below $4.60 could take us to $4.55.

The flow and trend of June Treasury Bills remains down. The resistance around $4.70. A close above $4.70 will turn both indicators to the up mode.

Treasury Bill futures are traded at numbers that are the reciprocal of interest rates. As T-Bill futures move lower, interest rates are becoming higher.

Commodity Insight

Week Ending February 19

After watching the commodity markets collapse over the past several weeks, I'm reminded of a story about the Lewis and Clark Expedition's first encounter with a grizzly bear. It occurred during the spring of 1805 while the group was traveling up the Missouri River.

The group happened upon a single grizzly, shot it, and chased it into the river. The grizzly was mortally wounded but its enormous strength and endurance enabled it to swim the high, desert gravel bar in mid-stream. It took nearly a half hour for the bear to die. During that half hour the grizzly snarled and thrashed about and put up quite a fuss.

Later that night William Clark noted in his journal that the grizzly "was a very large and terrible looking animal, which we found very hard to kill." In the annals of American history few observations have been so accurate.

That was the Expedition's first encounter with a grizzly. As the Expedition traveled deeper into the unexplored west there would be more encounters with the hard to kill bear. With each encounter, fear and respect for the bear increased.

The analogy here is evident. Commodity traders in early 1987 have discovered that the market bear is very large and terrible looking and very hard to kill. The message that traders have received over the past two weeks is that the bear is back and is roaring mad.

In early 1987, it seemed likely that the bulls would be in control of many markets. Talk of renewed inflation and rising crude oil prices and a pick-up in the U.S. economy had the bears on the run. Fears of inflation were supported when the CRB Index rallied sharply into early February closing at its highest level in months.

During the first six weeks of 1987, many commodities moved higher in price. The Dow Jones was the leader but it was followed quickly by cattle, wheat, soybean oil, oats, lumber, foreign currencies, silver, gold, hogs, and bellies and crude oil.

The bears were being routed on nearly every exchange. Traders that were bullish were having a field day. Buying the breaks was much more profitable and enjoyable than selling the rallies. There was a growing belief that the bear, if not dead, was mortally wounded and stranded on a gravel bar.

The markets have been embroiled in an atmosphere of blind speculation. Fundamentals have taken a back seat to a bullish market psychology. Enthusiasm and greed will only support a market for so long. Those markets with poor fundamentals will eventually fall under their own weight.

Markets with sound fundamentals will go higher. It's that simple. Over the past two weeks, we have seen which markets have sound fundamentals and which markets do not. The bullish markets are divorcing themselves from the bearish markets. It is quite clear that the reckless enthusiasm that has infected the marketplace since early January, is beginning to wane.

In the next several months, cattle prices will remain firm while hogs prices grow weaker. Copper prices should assume a leadership role in the near future.

During the first six weeks of 1987, many commodities moved higher in price. The Dow Jones was the leader but it was followed quickly by cattle, wheat, soybean oil, oats, lumber, foreign currencies, silver, gold, hogs, and bellies and crude oil.

The bears were being routed on nearly every exchange. Traders that were bullish were having a field day. Buying the breaks was much more profitable and enjoyable than selling the rallies. There was a growing belief that the bear, if not dead, was mortally wounded and stranded on a gravel bar.

The markets have been embroiled in an atmosphere of blind speculation. Fundamentals have taken a back seat to a bullish market psychology. Enthusiasm and greed will only support a market for so long. Those markets with poor fundamentals will eventually fall under their own weight.

Markets with sound fundamentals will go higher. It's that simple. Over the past two weeks, we have seen which markets have sound fundamentals and which markets do not. The bullish markets are divorcing themselves from the bearish markets. It is quite clear that the reckless enthusiasm that has infected the marketplace since early January, is beginning to wane.

In the next several months, cattle prices will remain firm while hogs prices grow weaker. Copper prices should assume a leadership role in the near future.

Commodity Insight

Week Ending February 19

After watching the commodity markets collapse over the past several weeks, I'm reminded of a story about the Lewis and Clark Expedition's first encounter with a grizzly bear. It occurred during the spring of 1805 while the group was traveling up the Missouri River.

The group happened upon a single grizzly, shot it, and chased it into the river. The grizzly was mortally wounded but its enormous strength and endurance enabled it to swim the high, desert gravel bar in mid-stream. It took nearly a half hour for the bear to die. During that half hour the grizzly snarled and thrashed about and put up quite a fuss.

Later that night William Clark noted in his journal that the grizzly "was a very large and terrible looking animal, which we found very hard to kill." In the annals of American history few observations have been so accurate.

That was the Expedition's first encounter with a grizzly. As the Expedition traveled deeper into the unexplored west there would be more encounters with the hard to kill bear. With each encounter, fear and respect for the bear increased.

The analogy here is evident. Commodity traders in early 1987 have discovered that the market bear is very large and terrible looking and very hard to kill. The message that traders have received over the past two weeks is that the bear is back and is roaring mad.

In early 1987, it seemed likely that the bulls would be in control of many markets. Talk of renewed inflation and rising crude oil prices and a pick-up in the U.S. economy had the bears on the run. Fears of inflation were supported when the CRB Index rallied sharply into early February closing at its highest level in months.

During the first six weeks of 1987, many commodities moved higher in price. The Dow Jones was the leader but it was followed quickly by cattle, wheat, soybean oil, oats, lumber, foreign currencies, silver, gold, hogs, and bellies and crude oil.

The bears were being routed on nearly every exchange. Traders that were bullish were having a field day. Buying the breaks was much more profitable and enjoyable than selling the rallies. There was a growing belief that the bear, if not dead, was mortally wounded and stranded on a gravel bar.

The markets have been embroiled in an atmosphere of blind speculation. Fundamentals have taken a back seat to a bullish market psychology. Enthusiasm and greed will only support a market for so long. Those markets with poor fundamentals will eventually fall under their own weight.

Markets with sound fundamentals will go higher. It's that simple. Over the past two weeks, we have seen which markets have sound fundamentals and which markets do not. The bullish markets are divorcing themselves from the bearish markets. It is quite clear that the reckless enthusiasm that has infected the marketplace since early January, is beginning to wane.

In the next several months, cattle prices will remain firm while hogs prices grow weaker. Copper prices should assume a leadership role in the near future.

AT ALTA VERDE INDUSTRIES
WE UNDERSTAND TEXAS CATTLE

We all know that if you're going to raise cattle in most parts of Texas you have to use a breed that can take the heat and walk quite a distance to water. But suddenly, we're hearing some people in the packing industry say that cattle able to do this don't fit their programs.

At Alta Verde, we take another viewpoint. To us, an animal is not unfit just because he has some ear, or hump, or Mexican influence, and we don't intend to dock anyone just because he raises cattle that can survive in herd country.

We have the facilities and know-how to help you take your cattle through the feedlot all the way to the packing plant, and since we carry out each phase of the operation ourselves, we can make you a good deal on the entire package.

So if someone starts telling you that your cattle are below par, call and let us give you a second opinion. After all, people do make mistakes.

National Grain Market Review

Wheat and feed grain markets moved mostly higher across the nation during the week ended Feb. 26. Farmers ofered only moderate amounts of grains into the market and a little pick up in export trade limited most prices. China and Mexico bought U.S. wheat in four quantities. A poor Argentina corn crop might provide U.S. traders without an eye into Japanese and Korea corn markets. Brazil's improved soybean crop tended to depress U.S. soybean markets in spots. Weaker soybean oil markets were partially offset by soybean meal.

Wheat: Wheat markets were supported by well regulated farmer selling. Steady flour mill demand and expanding export demand. Kansas City no. 1 hard red winter wheat prices were up 10 cents to 2.41 1/2 but fell 51 cents compared with 1986 and dropped nearly 90 cents per bushel from the 1985 season. St. Louis no. 2 soft red winter wheat advanced 5 1/2 cents to 3.01 3/4. Dayton 12 1/2 cents from 1986 and down 33 1/2 cents from 1985. Minneapolis no. 1 dark northern spring 1 1/2% protein wheat rose 6 cents to 3 1/2 1/4, but fell 7 1/2 cents from 1986 and 1 1/2 1/4 cents from 1985. Portland no. 1 soft white wheat went up 2 1/2 cents to 3.08 3/4 but dropped 85 1/2 cents from 1986 and traded 76 cents below the 1985 season.

Corn: Yellow corn markets moved mixed all week but closed firmer on reports that a short Argentina corn crop might increase U.S. trade to Japan and Korea. Omaha no. 2 yellow corn closed steady to up 1 cent at 1.32 1/4 but dropped 28 cents from last year and fell 12 1/2 1/4 per bushel from 1985. White corn trade is dull and bids tell 30 cents at Kansas City as traders adjusted prices in line with recent sharp declines in yellow corn markets.

Sorghum: Yellow grain sorghum moved in wide price swings but closed stronger following the rally in yellow corn market. Demand broadened to domestic feeding area and into export channels. Kansas City no. 2 yellow sorghum rose 7 1/2 cents to 2.08 1/2 but fell 12 1/2 1/4 from 1986 and dropped 1.86 per hundred pounds from 1985. Texas high plains sorghum finished mixed, down 5 cents to up 3 cents at 2.75-3.00 per cwt.

Oilseeds: Yellow soybean traded narrowly mixed as weaker oil markets and a prospectively larger Brazil soybean crop weighed against a stronger soybean meal market and expanded exports. Illinois processor soybeans ranged 1 cent lower at 1 cent higher 4.83-4.88, down 44 1/2 cents from last year and down 1.00 1/4-1.10 1/4 per bushel from 1985. Duluth sunflower seed advanced 10 cents to 8.95, down 95 cents from last year and 4.15 per hundred pounds below the comparable market 1985.

Stuph & Thangs

It may make us a little bitter to recognize that had the master comedians or clowns or heart disease or cancer it might have been a matter that got a longer news play than it did. However, as we have pointed out many times this meeting and its conclusions should be called to the attention of our people in public office and especially those in Congress. At the present time both the Administration and the Congress are gingerly picking at the problems with our fur trade. What we need to do is point out to our public servants that our so-called trading partners are abusing our friendship, what there is of it, and as Teddy Roosevelt advised long ago "walk softly, but carry a Big Stick." We recognize that Congress and the Government is infested with a lot of gutless wonders who are deathly afraid they may hurt the feelings of some of our friends in Europe and Japan if we lay down some rules about closing our markets to them, unless they open their markets to us. If this simple adjustment throws 'em into a fit, we just got to watch 'em have it and when their hysterics die down get down to dealing the cards in an open and above board fashion. We simply can't believe that if we lay down some simple rules of give and take, and make 'em stick, it is gonna mean the end of the world. This trade virus is just like a lot of other childish diseases. It may seem scary at first, but they'll get over it. Ever thine, The Editor.

P.S.: We noted where U.S. News and World Report magazine featured the fact that there are strong indications that lying has become such a widespread phenomenon in these United States that hardly anyone believes there are two types of people who say him up worse than almost any other and that is liars and thieves, since both those sins are rarely ever really necessary. If President Reagan and Congress really want to improve our society they ought to institute a special tax to create a huge building program to provide jail space for those liars and thieves who break the laws, especially the kind commonly known as white-collar crimes. We would bet a little that most of the honest citizens would ante up this kind of tax without a whimper! — Thussell, Brothers!

Dr. Mr. Gouldy:
Would you be so kind as to publish the address of the Council that has to do with the spending of the money for promoting beef consumption. The James Garner spots I have seen would not induce my dog to eat beef and now this Shepherd woman is quoted as not including beef in her diet. I only run about 47 cows, but I do not think this promotion will do me and I would like to make application for return of my one dollar per head. Keep up the good work you and your staff are doing getting out the Reporter. I have subscribed for several years and plan to continue doing so. Very truly yours,

Texas Farm Credit System Reports Results

and severely liable for the outstanding debt issued by the system.

Loans outstanding for the three banks and associations declined from $4.1 billion on December 31, 1985, to $3.5 billion at the end of 1986. Rogers attributed the loan volume decrease primarily to the adversity in the agricultural community and increased competition for agricultural loans.

"More and more farmers and ranchers are experiencing difficulty in their operations," Rogers said. "We are doing our best to work with farmers having problems."

The Texas District charged off almost $17 million in loans in 1986. The Federal Land Bank charged off $2.5 million or .10 percent of average loans outstanding.

Rogers said that the Texas District has adequate allowance for future losses with $164 million available to fund future loan charge-offs. This amount is 4.55 percent of loans outstanding. Together the banks and associations have a net worth of $508 million. The banks had $143 million in reserves at the end of 1985 and $648 million in net worth. The decline in capital, Rogers said, is due mostly to aid provided other Farm Credit districts.

National Western Chianina Show

Denver again opened itself to welcome the participants at the 81st National Western Stock Show & Rodeo. The grounds underwent a face lift during the past summer and the city again planned a downtown promotion for the duration of the stock show.

The 81st National Western hosted 16 cattle breed shows - six of which were the breed's national show, a junior heifer show and 17 breed sales that included a bull sale. In addition to the breeding cattle shows, all-breed competition included pens and carloads, commercial replacement heifers, feeder steers and heifers, prospect steers and

Mobley Brangus Sets Investor Liquidation Sale For March 21

Castroville, Texas — The Mobley Brangus "Investor Liquidation" Sale will be held Saturday, March 21, 1987. The sale will be held at the Livestock Performance Center at Castroville, Texas.

There will be over 165 lots selling including 13 bred cows and pairs, 17 proven donor cows, 29 open heifers, 28 bred recipients, 33 recipients with calves and 43 bull calves and at least said.

Freeman stressed U.S. export programs had to be tailored to each country's needs. "The product needs to conform to the customer's needs, not vice versa. That's a basic tenet of good salesmanship," he said.

More widespread use of the P1-480 program could help bolster export sales. Richard Gady, vice president of Cargill Inc., later told the subcommittee.

Repeal of cargo preference requirements, expansion of the export bonus program to include more Asian countries, the USSR and Mexico and the use of marketing loans for grains and oilseeds could also invigorate U.S. export markets, he said.

At Davis, Oklahoma
MORE THAN 220 HEAD SELL

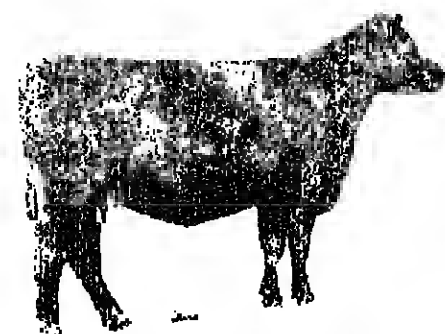

Three-year-old former National Junior Show participant. Sells with a 1-22-87 calf by Taloga. Her September 1985 heifer will be a feature of the yearling heifer division.

Selling:
54 Spring-calving bred heifers
48 Fall-calving bred heifers
30 Open heifer calves

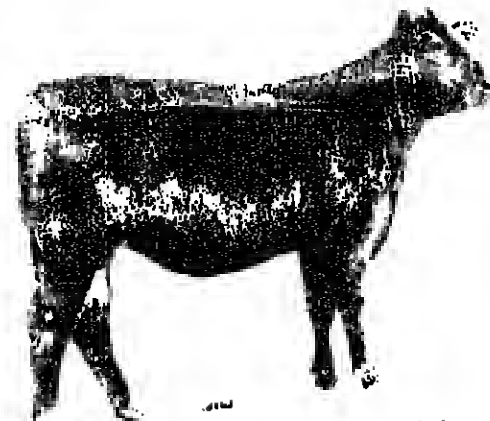

Selling:
15 Fall pairs
28 Spring pairs
19 Spring bred cows
18 Yearling bulls

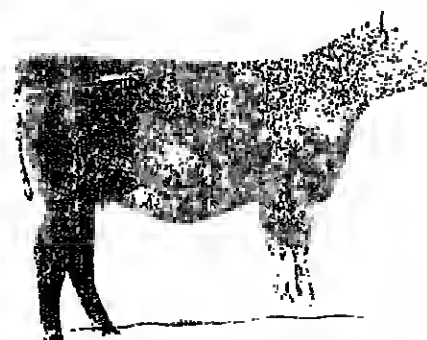

February 1981 Black Dot Chapparral King daughter sells due to calve 2-18-87 to Pine Drive Big 54 y.

October 1982 Elevation daughter sells due to calve 3-9-87 to Rito 9J9, the great maternal sire.

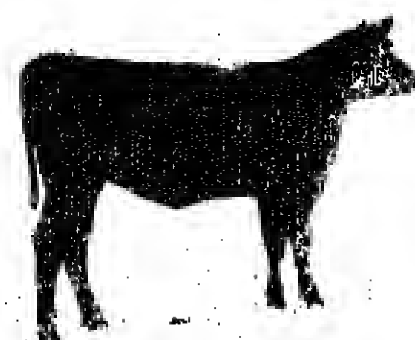

A 12-7-84 daughter of A+. Her dam is Eckerts Flashy Lady, a 1981 calf champion at the National Western at Denver. Due to calve 3-13-87 to Wrangler.

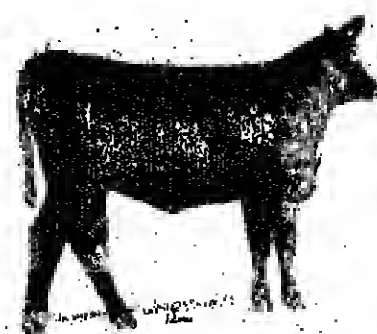

October 1984 daughter of Mr. A+ of Verola sells due to calve in April to DF Chandler.

SPECIAL HIGHLIGHT

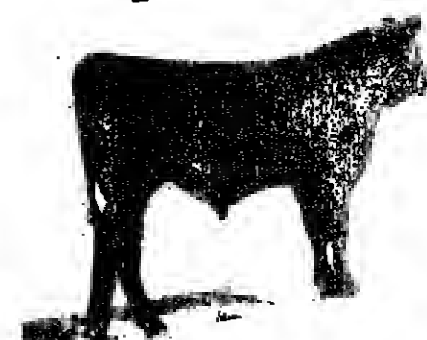

Selling Every Heifer From Our 1985 Calf Crop as Bred.

Anhley's 1986 show heifer. This March A+ daughter sells bred 12-29-86 to DF Quicksilver.

October 1985 A+ daughter with a weaning ratio of 103. Dam's EPDs: weaning + 19.6, combined maternal + 13.0, yearling + 29.4.

Wrangler and the dam by Dynamo. Weaning weight 730 lb. Dam's EPDs: weaning + 16.9; yearling + 21.8; combined maternal + 20.4.

DF Quicksilver, a son of 60E, was used extensively on the 1985 bred heifers featured in this sale offering. He is currently a member of the Select Sires bull stud. His EPDs qualify him as an easy-calving sire, with a minus EPD for birth weight, and he is backed by growth.
Birth Weight - 2.9 • Weaning Weight +10.0
Yearling Weight +30.0 • Combined Maternal +6.0
